

Ambient air pollution has many adverse consequences, the most serious of which is increased risk of premature death.

Deaths attributable to ambient air pollution, 2012 (per 100,000)

