

Not every country has enough health workers to meet the needs of its population. High-income countries have 15 times as many physicians as low-income countries do.

Physicians, nurses, and midwives, by country, most recent value in 2010–15 (per 1,000 people)

Source: WHO, OECD, and other sources. World Development Indicators (SH.MED.PHYS.ZS; SH.MED.NUMW.P3).