

Poorer people are less likely have the convenience and potential safety of water piped to their homes.

People using piped water on premises, most recent value (%)

