

The world's population has grown and the regional distribution of poverty has changed. Compared with 1990, there are now more poor people in Sub-Saharan Africa and fewer in South Asia and East Asia & Pacific.

Note: Poor refers to people living on less than $1.90 a day (2011 PPP). Regional aggregates exclude certain high-income countries.

Source: World Bank PovcalNet (database). <http://iresearch.worldbank.org/PovcalNet/home.aspx>